DirtCraft Ltd prioritises facilitating a safe environment for learning, progression and challenge for our riders, coaches, families, contractors, partners, and volunteers. We aim to consistently maintain a high standard of care by putting steps in place to minimize risk of incident, analyse and review our processes following an incident and implement learning to build robust structure for improvement moving into the future. DirtCraft Ltd identifies potential hazards and creates process to minimise or eliminate the risk that these hazards pose to our people.

Our sessions and events have Health and Safety at the core of planning and delivery. Although hugely important enjoyment, learning and challenge all come in behind maintenance and growth of a riders mental and physical wellbeing.

The Mountain Biking environment has prevalent risk. That is what makes the sport so engaging and fulfilling to navigate. At DirtCraft we eliminate, limit, or monitor risk to ensure our riders are safe but still challenged with their progression. There is a fine balance to achieving this which we are continuously improving.

Our coaches are trained to identify permanent and dynamic hazards, the risk they pose and suitable response to still achieve our objectives for our rider's growth. Our Health and Safety manual is regularly reviewed to ensure that our procedures, education, session, and events are being improved.

DirtCraft provides training for coaches and education opportunities for our riders to make the Mountainbike environment internally and externally beyond DirtCraft significantly safer.

DirtCraft has zero tolerance for Alcohol and drug consumption for all of its students and participants during events and programmes. There is zero tolerance for staff, management and coaches to be under the influence while delivering or holding responsibility.
